

WEAF has teamed up with Active Integrated Supply to Save WEAF Members time and money on Parts and Consumables Procurement.

Active Integrated Supply specialise in saving Aerospace and Defence companies time and money on their parts spend via our flexible outsourced procurement model.

We focus on meeting the real world needs of Maintenance, Engineering and Production managers delivering truly cost effective Parts and Critical Spares sourcing through a straightforward one-stop process.

Active are truly independent sourcing specialists with no distributor or OEM tie-ins. This independence allows us to operate through our unique "Competitive Marketplace", delivering average savings of between 6 - 20% direct to you, our customer. We currently source in excess of 100,000 items per annum on behalf of our customers who range from major Aero Engine manufacturers to Defence companies. Our services are available to all WEAF members regardless of size either via Ad Hoc procurement or Integrated Supply.

For customers who wish to take advantage of our services on a more formal arrangement, we provide integrated supply services within industrial manufacturing companies on a fully transparent, open book basis. Services provided include:

FULL INTEGRATED SUPPLY

TRANSACTIONAL & PROCUREMENT SERVICES

STOCK/STORES MANAGEMENT

PROJECT PROCUREMENT SUPPORT

.....and just about anything else that you need to keep your production running with no contract to sign or other on-going commitment.

While purchases of individual elements of materials and services may be small in value, there are often a large number of transactions, creating both a substantial total spend and a significant workload for your business. In addition, given the diverse nature of the items being purchased, few companies have the time, expertise or contacts necessary to maximise their buying efficiency and leverage their spend.

Benefits of Active's integrated service include:

| | |
|---|---|
| Reduced process cost and time to order | Open-book contract driving true value to your company |
| Improved control delivering standardised products | Develop alternative supply sources, reducing Risk |
| Improve cash flow; one invoice to pay | Leveraged Spend driving lower parts cost |
| Improve usage controls | Critical spares management |

You can start taking advantage of our services in one of three ways:-

- ▲ To access the Ad Hoc procurement service, simply provide us with details of the part or service you require and we will provide a quote within one day.
- ▲ If you employ between 100 - 200 staff we are happy to carry out a free of charge benchmarking exercise on a basket of parts.
- ▲ For members with in excess of 200 staff, we would be delighted to carry out a free site survey followed up with comprehensive cost saving recommendations.
